

Tri Tac Legacy Play-tests Bureau 13: Savage Worlds Edition

Oak Park Michigan: 02.13.2018: Tri Tac Legacy (TTL) reveals its first play-tests for Bureau 13: Stalking the Night Fantastic Savage Worlds Edition and teases Phil Foglio cover.

The following is a list of games Longshot Productions (LSP) is play-testing at GenghisCon, held February 21st to the 24th in Aurora, CO. The decision to set the games in different eras of B13 history was an easy one, according to TTL partner David Boop, "We wanted to capitalize on the nostalgia factor. Many gamers remember playing B13 years ago, and loved having scenarios set in different time periods. We picked years we thought would be the most fun in and take our play-testers back to the way the Bureau was, but now using Savage Worlds rules." Additionally, one game, Return to Walnut Creek, will be set in 2019, and is the first adventure showcasing the new B13. "The Bureau has been through hard times, and it's a new world. Will these recently recruited everyday agents be up task?" Boop explains.

Tickets are available still for GenghisCon and some of the adventures listed.

"The Case of the Las Vegas Hit Man: 01-13-1967"

The Bureau 13 agents who deal with the oddities in Nevada are some of the best and elite agents in the nation. However, this case will even be a test for them; this is one of the rare times Bureau 13 agents have been assigned to protect a civilian; Howard Hughes.
